

July 6, 2017

Dear Friends,

On Saturday, December 2nd, 2017, we will be hosting the 2nd Annual Live Life Full Gala in Philadelphia! This fabulous event will feature a premium open bar, passed hors d'oeuvres, food stations, live entertainment and an incredible live and silent auction. We are thrilled to be hosting this event again in Philly, given the huge success of the 2016 Gala. All proceeds from the gala will fund critical research for Prader-Willi Syndrome (PWS), a rare, non-inherited genetic disorder that our children were born with.

PWS is the most common cause of genetic obesity and affects approximately 1 in 15,000 births. Children with PWS suffer from feeding difficulties in infancy, delayed speech and physical milestones, short stature, scoliosis, sleep disturbances, behavioral challenges and cognitive delays. The defining symptom of PWS however, is hyperphagia, or, an insatiable appetite. Children with PWS feel hungry all the time, regardless of how much they eat. They also suffer from a slow metabolism and must be kept on a very strict diet to avoid life threatening weight gain. Without continuous supervision, our loved ones with PWS are constantly at risk for overeating to the point of stomach rupture. Currently, there are few treatments and no cure for Prader-Willi Syndrome.

We've decided to be as proactive as possible in helping to fund research for this challenging disorder. We know that through medical research, we can help to eliminate the many hurdles that our loved ones with PWS face on a daily basis.

Corporate sponsorships are critical to the success of our evening and we would be thrilled if you would consider becoming a corporate sponsor of our event. By teaming up with FPWR, your company will gain marketing exposure among this vast, national audience and have the potential to reach countless others based on your sponsorship level. Enclosed, please find the accompanying documents, which list the various benefits based at different sponsorship levels.

Thank you in advance for helping to make the 2nd Annual Live Life Full Gala, Philadelphia a successful event. We are both thrilled to be hosting this evening in a city that is so near and dear to our hearts. Most of all, we appreciate your willing to help ensure that our loved ones living with Prader-Willi syndrome, will one day be able to live life FULL.

Sincerely,

Samantha Chipetz Rebecca McWilliams

Our Foundation

The Foundation for Prader-Willi Research was established in 2003 by a small group of parents who saw the need to foster research that would help their children with Prader-Willi syndrome lead more healthy and fulfilling lives. Today, FPWR is composed of hundreds of parents, family members, researchers, and others who are interested in addressing the many issues related to PWS, including childhood obesity, developmental delay, psychiatric disorders, and autism spectrum disorders.

FPWR is dedicated to fostering and supporting research that will advance the understanding and treatment of PWS. To date, the FPWR has committed more than $6,000,000 to support 113 PWS-related research grants.

Maximizing Your Investment

FPWR maximizes donor contributions. In 2014, 87% of every donation was used to directly fund research programs. In partnership with the NIH, academic institutions and private pharmaceutical companies, FPWR ensures that your dollars are used to effectively accelerate research and advance potential therapies to treat the many challenges of PWS.

Prader-Willi Syndrome

(PWS), is a complex genetic disorder that occurs in approximately one out of every 15,000 births. PWS is caused by a small deletion on the 15th chromosome.

The symptoms of PWS are varied and dramatic. The most notable symptom is an insatiable hunger and most people with PWS are not able to control their food intake. Hyperphagia coupled with a metabolism requiring only 60% of the calories of a typical peer can lead to excessive eating, diabetes, morbid obesity and even death.

In addition to constantly feeling hungry, people with PWS may also suffer from challenges such as: short stature, scoliosis, sleep disturbances, skin picking, speech apraxia, mental illness, cognitive delays, obsessive-compulsive disorder, and difficulty controlling emotions.
